Financial Aid / Payment Options

Graduate business students have several payment options including: scholarships, employer tuition assistance, installment payment plan programs, and/or student loans. To determine eligibility requirements for student loans, submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or the Renewal FAFSA (for previous Federal Aid applicants) and request that Belmont University receive a copy of the analysis. The FAFSA requires approximately six weeks for processing. You may file the FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. Additional information on payment options is as follows:

- Installment Payment Plans. If you use your savings and/or current income to cover all or part of your education expenses, you can take advantage of the Interest-Free Monthly Payment Option offered through Tuition Management System (www.afford.com/Belmont). TMS takes your estimated educational expense and divides it into monthly payments. The cost is $55 per year and is only available for fall and spring semesters.

- Paying With Student Loans. Graduate students who are U.S. citizens are eligible to apply for the Federal Unsubsidized Stafford Loan programs, which are awarded without regard to financial need. Interest accrues from the time the loan is disbursed until it is paid in full. The maximum loan is $20,500 per academic year. If you are using Stafford Loans to pay any portion of your tuition, you should complete the FAFSA at least six weeks before the beginning of classes. International students are not eligible for U.S. government loans and should contact International Student Services at (615) 460-6342 for university policies regarding international students.
- Scholarships. Scholarships are awarded in fall and spring semesters only. Because dual enrolled JD/MBA students attend pay business tuition in summer only, there is no additional scholarship money above those received from the law school.
